FREE Ottawa Citizen shuttle bus to nearly 70 sites.

On June 3 and 4, you and your family have the opportunity to explore more than 150 of Ottawa's most interesting places, including 40 new sites, free of charge. You can learn about Ottawa's rich architectural and cultural heritage while getting behind-the-scenes access to some of the city's most treasured landmarks.

I am particularly excited about some new additions to this year's list of participants: the beautifully renovated Bank of Canada building, the Canada Council Art Bank which houses beautiful works of art by Canada's most talented artists, and the Parliament of Canada: East Block building.

Of course, there are annual favourites such as the Diefenbunker, Canada's Cold War Museum, and Firefighters' Day which coincides with Doors Open Ottawa at Cumberland Heritage Village Museum on Saturday, June 3.

If you are coming downtown, consider using the Free OC Transpo Shuttle to help you get around to nearly 70 locations. And don't forget your camera so that you can enter the Doors Open Ottawa Doublespace Photography Contest! For more details about the contest visit ottawa.ca/doorsopen.

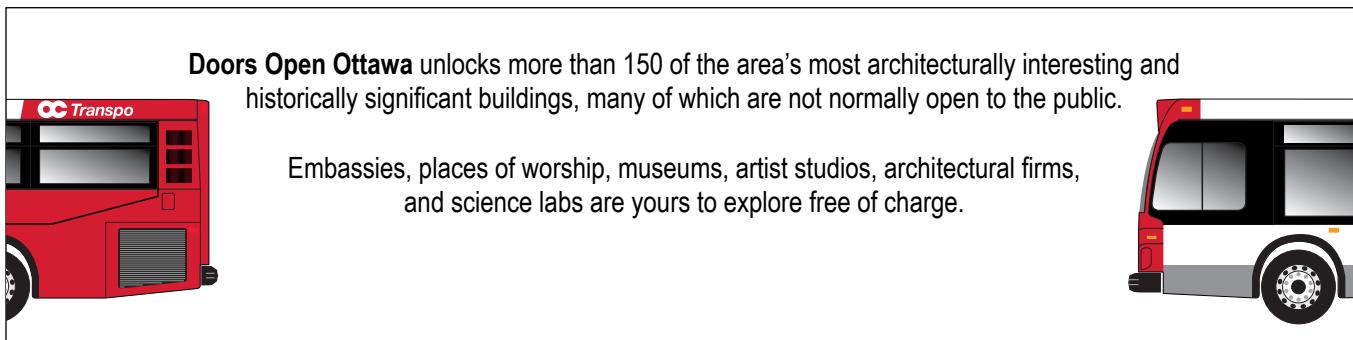

Wherever you choose to visit, I hope to see you, and 80,000 of your friends and neighbours during Doors Open Ottawa.

1. Abbotsford House

950 Bank St.

Sat. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m./Sun. CLOSED

Built in 1872 in gothic revival style, the designated heritage property was purchased in 1889 as a home “to assist those who, through age, infirmity and misfortune, were unable to help themselves.” Renovated in 1928 (including the addition of a wing) and again in the mid-70s, it’s now an active centre for adults over 55. Three original marble fireplace mantels still adorn the parlour and dining room. The main level is open for viewing. W, D, P, F, B, T, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

2. AIDS Committee of Ottawa

19 Main St.

Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The AIDS Committee of Ottawa (ACO) has served the HIV/AIDS community for 30 years, providing education and support services around HIV/AIDS. Built in 1961 and overlooking the Rideau Canal, the home of the ACO features a drop-in centre known as the Living Room – a place of comfort and care that pays tribute to the origins of the HIV/AIDS movement in Canada in the early ‘80s. W, D, P, F, B, T, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

3. allsaints

New

10 Blackburn Ave.

Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Once the site of Canada’s only royal wedding, and the parish of many prominent Canadians, including The Right Honourable Sir Robert Borden, allsaints was recently purchased by a unique partnership of businesses and local residents. Together, they are working to lovingly restore this national historic building and renew it as a multi-purpose urban space. allsaints features stunning WWI memorial stained glass windows, beautifully repointed stone, and a rare nine-bell chime in the tower. W, P, F, S, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

4. Alta Vista Animal Hospital – VCA

Canada

2616 Bank St.

Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Established in 1958, VCA Canada Alta Vista Animal Hospital functions just like a human hospital. With a staff of 160 people, including 35 veterinarians, the hospital offers 24-hour emergency care, general care, an intensive care unit for our critical patients, and a referral centre (including CT and MRI). Kids, dress up like a vet and bring your stuffed animals for the popular teddy bear surgery. Come learn about what they do! W, D, P, F, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

5. Andrex House/The National Trust for Canada Headquarters

190 Bronson Ave.

Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A superb example of decorative Queen Anne Revival architecture, the house was built in 1889 for Robert J. Davidson of Davidson Lumber Co. as a wedding gift for his wife. He hired his best craftsmen to install ornate oak walls, doors and ceilings. Today, it is the headquarters of The National Trust for Canada and Andrex Holdings Ltd. W, P, F, B, $P, S, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

6. Archives of the University New of Ottawa

100 Marie Curie Pvt., Room 012

Sat. & Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Visit the Archives of the University of Ottawa and help them celebrate their 50th anniversary. Discover treasures acquired by the institution since 1848, including the keys to the original College of Bytown, the first student newspaper and photos from the nineteenth century. University of Ottawa Chief Archivist Michel Prévost will be on hand to answer your questions. W, D, B, $P, T, S, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

7. Ashbury College

362 Mariposa Ave.

Sat. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m./Sun. CLOSED

Ashbury College is celebrating 125 years in Ottawa. From its humble beginnings as a one-room schoolhouse for 17 boys, to a leading international school with 700 coed students, the sprawling campus blends historic architecture with modern innovation, such as the original chapel and the recently-opened Creative Learning Centre. W, P, F, B, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.

8. Bank of Canada New

234 Wellington St.

Sat. CLOSED/Sun. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Bank of Canada’s head office combines classic and modern architecture. An atrium and two glass towers, designed by renowned Canadian architect Arthur Erickson, were added in 1979 to complement the original 1938 granite building. A large-scale renovation was completed in 2016. Access is limited to the main floor. No photography. Visit bankofcanada.ca/doors-open for more information. W, D, F, T, S, OC Transpo route – visit octranspo.com.
