Country Flea Market

Presented by the City of Ottawa

A joint fund raising effort by local non-profit organizations.

Sunday,
September 30
Coliseum, Lansdowne Park
10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Featuring:

- Country Café
- Children's Corner
- Entertainment

Come to see us--or come to help out--at HERITAGE OTTAWA's booth at the Flea Market!

HERITAGE OTTAWA will have a booth at the City's "Country Flea Market" on Sunday, September 30. Please search your basements and closets for unused items that may be put to good use by someone else.

Remember, things needn't be antique or even old to be attractive to someone else. A person furnishing his/her first apartment might welcome kitchen utensils, knicknacks, old but serviceable towels and bedding--or anything else which may have lost its lustre in your eyes.

We've had some volunteers but could use more to sell items at the Flea Market. This is by no means a high-pressure sales job. Come join us for an hour or two on Sunday the 30th, to make money for HERITAGE OTTAWA and to meet some of the other members.

Please call Stella Kirk at 745-0551 Tuesday and Thursday mornings, or 728-9071 in the evenings, to arrange for drop-off or pick-up of items, or to volunteer an hour or so of your time.

FIRST ON THE LIST: RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP!

HERITAGE OTTAWA memberships run from October 1 to September 30 each year. To keep your membership in good standing, just clip off the bottom of the "Why not tear the East Block Down" page, and send it in with your cheque today.

Your membership fees keep Heritage Ottawa going.

ICOMOS CANADA LECTURES

The Canadian Committee of ICOMOS* presents lectures by two eminent international visitors:

Monday, Sept. 24: "Art Nouveau" by Stephan Tschudi-Madsen, Director General of Monuments, 'Riksantikvaren', Oslo, Norway. Dr. Tschudi-Madsen is also Vice-President of the World Heritage Committee and a well-known author.

Tuesday, Sept. 25: "The Conservation of Historic Gardens, with reference to the work of the National Trust", by John Sales, horticulturist and garden adviser to the National Trust of Great Britain.

Both lectures will be held in the auditorium of the L. B. Pearson Building, 125 Sussex Drive, from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. See attached REGISTRATION FORM, which you should take with you to the lecture(s). (There may be a supply there, if you happen to forget.) No. 3 and No. 6 buses stop at the front door of the Pearson Building.

Last year's series of lectures sponsored by ICOMOS Canada were excellent. I'd recommend these latest offerings to anyone interested in heritage conservation problems in general.

COURSE: "Our Architectural Ancestry"

If you enjoy the excellent line drawings by Lyette Fortin which often grace this newsletter (see below, for example), you will be interested in author (and restoration architect) John Leaning's course at Carleton University this fall.

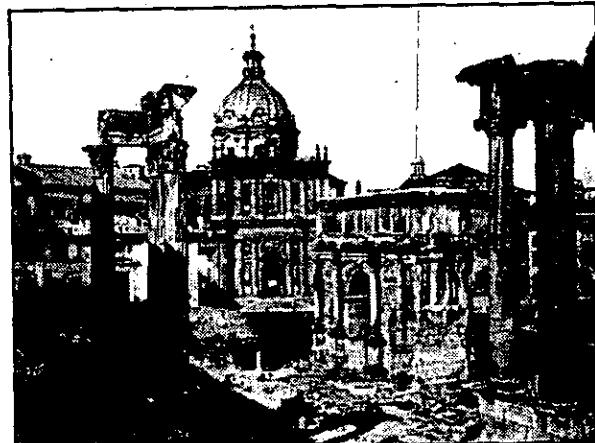

In eight slide-lectures, beginning October 2, John will trace Ottawa's--and by extension Canada's--architectural ancestry, using European, American and local examples.

The course is $80 for the 8 sessions, and is held Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. Further details may be obtained by phoning Carleton's School of Continuing Education, at 231-6660.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND ARCHITECTURE: 1839 to the Present Day - A Symposium

Associated with the above exhibition is a symposium organized by the Gallery on September 29 and 30. An impressive array of internationally known photographers, architects, curators, architectural historians, art historians and critics will be key participants in this 2-day session at the end of the month.

The opening speaker will be Phyllis Lambert, founder and director of the Canadian Centre for Architecture.

Seating in the Gallery's 450-seat auditorium is available on a first-come basis. Admission is free.

Further information about this symposium may be obtained by calling the Information Office of the National Gallery, at 996-8031.

1985 ANTIQUE MAP CALENDAR

The 4th edition of this popular calendar is now available. It reproduces 15 full-colour maps, dated 1570 to 1900, from the National Map Collection of the Public Archives.

The map shown on the cover is Justus Danckerts' world map, published in Amsterdam circa 1680, with vignettes representing the four elements of earth, water, air and fire.

City maps in the 1985 calendar include Toronto (1866), Ottawa (circa 1893) and Winnipeg (1900), the latter two being bird's-eye views. A map of Batoche, Saskatchewan, was selected to mark the centennial of Louis Riel's battle there in May 1885.

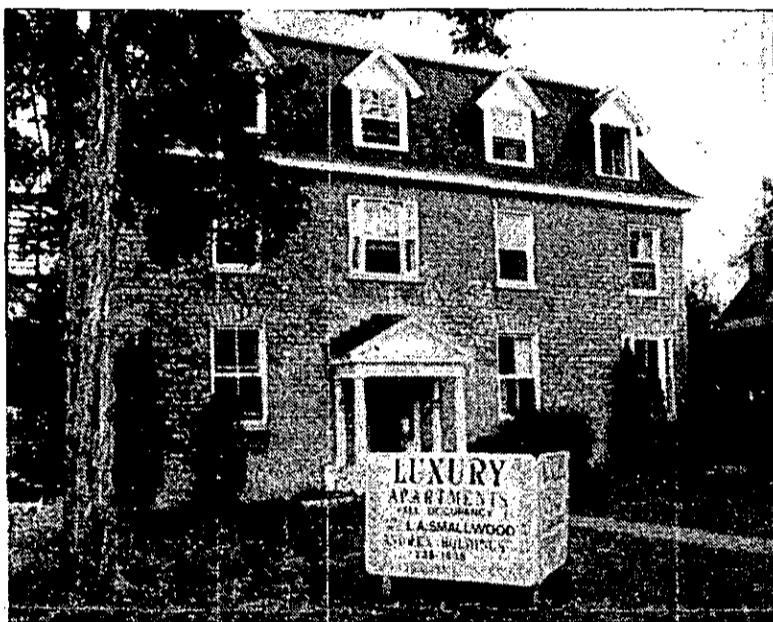

The oldest map in the calendar is by A. Ortelius, showing the North Atlantic area and published in 1570.

The calendar is available from most retail bookstores, or from the Canadian Publishing Centre, Department of Supply and Services, Ottawa K1A 0S9. When ordering, quote catalogue number SA2-119/1985.

1984 CALENDAR WINS ISI AWARD

The Public Archives is quite rightly proud that its 1984 Antique Map Calendar won the Information Services Institute's award for 1983 in the "Display Print" category. The calendar was also judged the best overall publication. Entries were judged on quality, innovation, creativity and effectiveness.

HERITAGE BUILDINGS315 DALY AVENUE

— Pat McGrath, Citizen

Heritage designation has been recommended for the 123-year-old house at 315 Daly Avenue in Sandy Hill. The $2\frac{1}{2}$ -storey house was built before 1861 for customs collector Duncan Graham. It was enlarged to a duplex in 1889, converted into apartments in 1950, and is now being renovated (as a luxury apartment building).

The City's architectural sub-committee (LACAC) recommended the house be included in the Sandy Hill heritage district because it was one of the first buildings in the community and because its design is typical of other houses built in its day. Its roof has a bell shape typical of 19th century Quebec houses.

TWO CENTRE TOWN HOUSES TO BE DEMOLISHED

Local residents evidently did not act quickly enough to prevent a developer from getting permission to demolish the attractive houses at 191 and 215 Somerset Street West.

Demolition is slated to begin this fall so construction may start in November on a $6-million, 45-unit condominium.

The two- and three-bedroom units are to be ready for occupancy in July 1985, and are expected to sell for $100,000 to $200,000.

HERITAGE OTTAWA'S TOUR OF LOG FARM

A combination of colder weather and other things has led us to postpone the tour of the Log Farm until late spring or early summer, 1985. This will allow members to see the Farm's award-winning garden at its best.
